

Abstract of the Invention

The present invention is an aircraft having a memory loaded with geolocation data corresponding to restricted airspace boundaries and an autonomous means for rerouting the aircraft outside of the restricted airspace boundaries as the aircraft approaches to within a 5 predetermined distance of the restricted airspace.